CONFIDENTIALITY AND DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION POLICIES

1. Protection of Privacy

PTM is committed to protect the personal privacy of participants and PTM members. Invasions of privacy can take many forms, often inadvertent or well-intentioned. The mutual trust and freedom of thought and expression essential to PTM rest on a confidence that privacy will be respected and disclosures of personal information will be made only with the informed consent of the individual.

2. Policy on Privacy of Information

Recognizing that specific items of information about current (as well as former) individual participants and staff must be maintained for educational, research, and other PTM's purposes, it is PTM's policy that such information be collected, maintained, and used by PTM only for appropriate, necessary, and clearly defined purposes, and that such information be controlled and safeguarded in order to ensure the protection of personal privacy to the extent permitted by law. The educational records of participants are also subject to PTM's policy on the privacy of participants records.

Participants and PTM members, respectively have the right to see certain records maintained about them. An individual should be provided the means for seeing and obtaining copies of records about him or her maintained by PTM as well as for challenging their accuracy and completeness and the propriety of their use.

Personal information, other than directory information about participants and standard personnel information, should not be released to anyone outside PTM without the permission of the individual, except in the case of court orders and/or legal process in cases where such release would be clearly expected (employment references, award nominations, etc.), or in extraordinary circumstances.

Directory information about participants includes name, addresses, telephone number, electronic mail address, course attended, qualifications received and dates of attendance. Standard personnel information comprises dates of PTM employment, job classification or title, the area in which an individual is or was employed and PTM telephone extension for current employees.

Persons with responsibility for records containing personal information should exercise care to ensure accuracy and completeness. Safeguards should be provided to protect personal information against accidental or intentional misuse or improper disclosure within or outside PTM.

When records containing personal information are no longer actively needed, they should be archived and maintained in a manner which ensures all rights of privacy stated in this section.

3. Policy on Privacy of Participant Records

This policy is designed to protect participants' privacy, and to provide them access to their education records. This includes all records, in all tangible formats (print, electronic, visual, etc.) that are directly related to currently or formerly enrolled by participants and are maintained by PTM.

Notes and similar records regarding participants that are made for, and restricted to, the personal use of a staff member are not subject to review by the participants.

PTM's information (in paper and electronic formats) must be retained for appropriate period of time. No educational record may be destroyed if there is an outstanding request to inspect or review it. After a participant leaves PTM, participant information relevant to that participant may be retained by PTM.

Participants have the right of access to their records and to seek corrections of them, as well as the conditions under which others may have access to participant information. Personally identifiable participant information should not be disclosed to individuals or organizations outside of PTM without the participant's written consent, with certain exceptions that are explained below. The written consent must be signed and dated and must include a specification of the records to be disclosed, the purpose of the disclosure, and the party (or parties) to whom the disclosure is made. Upon request, the PTM shall be provided with a copy of a record that is disclosed.

Disclosure of Information to Third Parties without participant approval shall be undertaken only when:

- the training course that has been attended by a participant (or participants) has been funded by a third party, e.g. an international funding organization, then information on the participants performance could be included in any report required as part of the funding agreements ; or
- the participant has been sent to the training course by their employer then the participants results will be released to that employer.

PTM requires that employees related to the training, volunteers and contractors sign a document by which they commit themselves to safeguarding the confidentiality of training information in accordance with our written policies.
